

Skills for the Hills for Adults

The Humberside Activities Team will be running 'Skills for the Hills for Adults' during the weekend of 11th & 12th September 2010 at Raven Gill campsite, Commondale, in the North Yorkshire Moors.

This weekend will be open to all adults within Humberside Scout County, both uniformed and non-uniformed and will consist of theory and practical workshops.

However to make this weekend a success, we need to know what YOU want the activities team to provide.

So whatever your skill level is at the moment, if you feel you could benefit from some additional training in a particular area, please contact Paul Nightingale at pjnight@hotmail.co.uk with your requests and we will endeavour to put a training package together to suit everybody.

Full details of the weekend, including costs, will be published on the Humberside website as soon as details are finalised.
